Do you have a difficult handling problem?

You might think that purchasing an overhead crane for your business can be like a daunting and expensive task!

It doesn't have to be...

Some businesses don't even bother with overhead cranes, thinking that they just can't afford the time or the money that it will take to set one up.

What these business owners don't know is that there is an easier way to do all of this: with our lightweight overhead bridge crane kit.

Here are 5 great reasons why any business owner should consider ordering an overhead crane kit...

1. Customisation:

Our kits can be designed specifically for your business.

Tool handling, machine loading, product handling - whatever you need!

Select the parts yourself online, download brochure or our experienced crane technician can help you design the perfect overhead crane kit for your needs, large or small.

The modern profile section crane is easier to use and can cover all of the working envelope, places where a forklift cannot possibly reach...

2. Install it yourself:

Suddenly the installation costs are taken out of the equation when a business owner purchases an overhead crane kit.

Those extra costs can add up to thousands of pounds with larger cranes and may not be needed.

Overhead lightweight profile crane kits are very easy to install and simple to slot in when and where they are needed.

Often the crane can be suspended from your existing building support structure or simple gantry. The system is extendable so you can easily add to it as your business expands or take it with you if you move.
